

The discovery of gold is reported in the Lebanon Valley, Pennsylvania. The Keystone state is rich in many kinds of mineral, but it has never been supposed to have any auriferous deposits.

The general talk in Springfield is that "Rook of Cook is a crook." It is reported that he was paid $700 by the Democrats, and that after they got him dead drunk they robbed him of the money.

The Democratic Mayor of Minneapolis, has vetoed the ordinance fixing a license fee at $1500. He is evidently one of the two-grades-for-a-nickel sort, like some of his party in this neck of woods.

Reports from the smaller towns in Ohio indicate that large proportions of the saloons are closing on account of the Scott law, which has just gone into effect. Liquor Leagues wherever organized have held meetings, but keep the proceedings secret.

COMMENTING upon a recent banquet in Chicago, the Democratic Cincinnati Enquirer says: "After dinner speeches made by statesmen who hang to the back of their chairs for support neither create public opinion nor make votes."

It begins to look as though the Sage of Cipher Alley had determined to enter as one of the contestants for the presidential nomination of next year. He has begun to inform the country by telegraph that he was never in better health in his life— which looks decidedly ominous. Whenever we see evidences of the reorganization of the Literary Bureau we will believe that the "bar" is to be opened, which will start such a Tilden boom among the bosses as will drive every other candidate from the field.

The most amazing handiwork of Providence is the average petit juror. One of the twelve who tried and acquitted Scheller, accused of setting fire to the Newhall House, says: "On the first ballot there were ten for acquittal and two for conviction. A dozen ballots were taken, the vote finally standing eleven to one, I being the obstinate one. Finally we all agreed. I was sure from the conclusion of the testimony that Scheller was innocent, and intended all the while to finally vote for acquittal. It is past my comprehension how the grand jury could have indicted Scheller on such evidence." It is past comprehension how this juror could go on voting time and again for conviction while all the time he was convinced of the prisoner's innocence. But reason as well as law must be silent when juries are contemplated.

This New York Tribune closes an elaborate article on Mayor Harrison's recent speech before the Iroquois Club in these words:

Said Carter Harrison in effect: "We believe in free trade, and the people don't. But we want the free trade, and to get it we must pretend to be in favor of protection, or at least in 'incidental protection.' Schellard does a Democratic ass, baldly, even at 2 o'clock in the morning, listen to such rank discourse. Carter Harrison is right. The Democratic party, if it would succeed in the next election, must deceive the people as to its real purposes. That is its only way. And that is what it undoubtedly will do or try to do when the time comes."

There are doubtless more dead beats and swindlers in Washington than in any other city of its size on the face of the earth. The Washington fraud is peculiar of his kind, a law unto himself. He seeks the capital because of its special advantages for his special variety of dead beatism. Very often, too, he goes there tolerably honest and industrious, but finding himself stranded and out of employment the weak element of his nature comes to the surface, and he sets his wits to work to get loans that he knows he can never pay. He gets into the habit of eternal credit, and never gets out of it, to the sorrow of his creditors. Then there is the government dead-beat forever hanging on the fellow of the wheels of government trying to get a lien on some office or other. One of the worst Washington dead-beats is he who does his dead-beating on a good inherited name. The more honored and well-known the name the easier the game. Rich fathers get tired of idle sons, and refuse to pay their drafts even at the risk of causing a friend embarrassment. Make-believe newspaper correspondents are much feared dead-beats in Washington. If all the money owed by dead-beats in that city were applied to the payment of the National debt, Columbia and Uncle Sam would be square with the world in short meter.

The New Nickel. Fleury, the French chef, has secured a quantity of the so-called much-loved-for-new-nickels, and will present every number of goods to the amount of one dollar or over with one specimen. He charges them pay as high as 25 cents a piece for them. Call early, as the quantity is limited.

BUTLER AT CHARLESTON.

Tells How He Foresees War when the Democratic Convention Split.

Speech at Reception of Sixth Massachusetts.

To one at all versed in political history it was apparent that unless some special interposition of Providence came the growing dissensions of the North and South must lead to war. It was a significant event when two organizations which had long formed as the North and South were sent asunder—the Methodist Episcopal church and the Democratic party—the northern and southern portions of each being unable to agree. When the Democratic party was severed at Charleston there could be no doubt of the result.

After the convention divided I was at the Mill house at Charleston, smoking with some Southern friends. With Yankee curiosity I was looking up to note the construction of the building. Gov. Berry, of South Carolina, slapped me on the shoulder and said: "What are you looking at? Are you going to set up in the hotel business?" I replied: "I have been looking at the building to see how many soldiers it would quarter." While crossing a creek with Judge Shepley, a delegate from Maine he said to me: "I think the next time we cross the Potomac it will be with muskets on our shoulders."

The Democratic party failed to unite at Baltimore. A committee of fifteen from the Breckinridge branch of the party was chosen to take measures for future reorganization; and of this commission was one I found there the delegates of South Carolina bearing the ordinance of secession. I found that they had no intention of reorganizing, but that they wished to found an empire, the cornerstone of which would be slavery.

I told them that bloody, cruel war would intervene. They honestly thought that there would be no war, and said that the North wouldn't fight. A Texas man asked: "Who of the North would fight?" I replied, "I for one." He said there would be plenty to take care of me. "I called upon Jefferson Davis, who was then a Senator, and as I believed, a true Union man. I said to him: 'Can you not stem this torrent?' He said, 'I shall go with my State; you are a Democrat; what will you do?' I replied: 'I shall go with my State; and I am pretty sure that my State will be with me. With tears standing in his eyes, he asked: 'Is it possible that the next time we meet we shall meet as enemies?'"

THE late George Dawson, of Albany, himself one of the most expert amateur fishermen of his time, wrote just before his death: "General Arthur, now President of the United States, is also a well-known 'brother of the angle.' His love of the art is the outgrowth of his esthetic susceptibilities. Then Gen. Arthur no man can pitch a tent more quickly, adorn a camp more tastefully, cast a fly more deftly, fight a salmon more artistically, or bring him to gaff more gracefully." We confess to having been somewhat incredulous about that ten-pound bass which the President is reported to have caught in the Kissamee, but after reading the above tribute to his skill as a fisherman, we have no doubt of the substantial truth of the story.

At the risk of being thought a little previous the National Christian Association has entered the Presidential campaign with a ticket headed by the somewhat widely known Rev. Jonathan Blanchard, of Illinois. The same association took a small hand in the campaign of 1880, although no distinct record was made by the votes polled by the Blanchard party. Its cardinal points are: Death to slot societies, saloons, and wars of all kinds. The David of this Jonathan is John A. Conant, of Connecticut. A part of the 1036 scattering votes cast in 1880 were no doubt polled by the Blanchard party, and for aught that appears there has been no falling off since then in its strength.

How true it is that "man proposes, but God disposes." Last week the Democrats gained one member of the Illinois Legislature by purchase, and this week they lose one by death. Counting Haines and Rook as Democrats, the political division of the House now stands 76 Republicans, 70 Democrats.—Chicago Journal.

A country girl wrote to her lover: "Now, George, don't you fail to be at the singing school to-night." George wrote back that in the bright lexicon of youth (Webster's Unabridged) there was no such word as "fail."

The Ward Brothers Murder in Dakota.

A Long List of Suicides—Good Deeds as Well as Evil—Washington News.

The Murdered Ward Brothers. GRANT, Dak., April 26.—An inquiry was held at the homes of the Ward brothers, shot at Devil's Lake, the verdict being that they had been killed by the hands of parties unknown. It is now claimed that the party of thirteen from Grant City were fired on and killed by the Ward brothers. From parties coming out above the left breast. Fred Ward received one shot in the shoulder and the other in the back, and the other in the chest. The bodies were brought in on the afternoon train and were taken to the city. No arrests or legal proceedings have been instituted against any of the parties concerned, and yet it is known that there is no probability of taking any such measure, although the excitement runs very high. Several of the parties concerned in the shooting are now in the city, and it is said that they were warned that they would be well for them to try and leave the country, but they refused to do so, saying that they were armed to the teeth and could take care of themselves in any emergency. It is said that they would hold the claims at all costs.

A Peelle Breach. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 26.—W. G. De Peelle was interviewed yesterday relative to his proposed donation of $100,000 to the Asylum University, at Cincinnati.

"Others previously know more of the matter," he said, "than I do. My only information from President Harrison is that there are about $40,000 in the treasury, and that the $100,000 he raised by the 1st of August. The limit of time I first set expired about nine months ago, but I have since then been waiting for the change of the name from Asbury to De Peelle. He stated that it was the intention of the Asylum University to come forward with the proposed donation to the Asylum University, and after much solicitation he consented.

A Second Attempt. NEW YORK, April 26.—Frank Jarklin, the base-ball player, who Tuesday shot his wife and cut her throat, tried again to kill himself in the hospital yesterday. He wanted to see his wife, who is in an adjoining ward, but was refused. He was told that there was little chance for her recovery. Suddenly he sprang up in his bed and dashed head first on the ground at the foot of the bed. He was picked up with a gasp in his head and strangled in bed. The doctor tried to save him and put an end to his sufferings. He claims that the shooting of his wife was accidental, and that he had done but then tried to kill himself.

Desperate Outlaws. Rob a Farmer and Leave Him Tied to a Tree. LEAVENWORTH, Kan., April 26.—Geo. Andrews, of Leavenworth, was yesterday indicted for the robbery of $275 in cash on the military reservation north of this city. The robbery was well planned. He left Leavenworth a short time ago for Bristol, Neb., being disguised by a beard and wearing a hat and a long coat. He was accompanied by his family and started for Garretts, Kan., in a wagon. The family and children to Garretts by railroad remained in Leavenworth to wait their train. Andrews and his family were met by a man who had been acquainted at his hotel asked him to pay his way to this city, as he thought he could get work there. This Andrews agreed to do, and the two left Leavenworth at night. At Oak Mills, a short distance this side of Atchison, the man wanted to get off, as he thought he could get work there. Andrews discovered what kind of a place he was in, and suggested that they wait in this city, which they started out to do. They were soon overtaken by two men who were paying their fare. The four walked on together until they reached Garretts, where the three attacked Andrews, beat him severely and then escaped. Andrews was taken to the hospital, and is now recovering.

Irish-American Conspectus.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 26.—Some controversy has arisen as to whether any communications have taken place between the British Government and our own on the subject of the dynamite conspiracy. Inquiry at the State Department elicited the fact that no communication has taken place between the two governments on this subject. It has been asserted that Great Britain has been protesting against the dynamite conspiracy, and that it is also protesting against the extradition of the conspirators. It is also asserted that the British Government has been protesting against the dynamite conspiracy, and that it is also protesting against the extradition of the conspirators.

STRONG FACTS!
A great many people are asking what particular troubles BROWN'S IRON BITTERS is good for.
It will cure Heart Disease, Paralysis, Dropsy, Kidney Disease, Consumption, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and all similar diseases.
Its wonderful curative power is simply because it purifies and enriches the blood, thus beginning at the foundation, and by building up the system, drives out all disease.
A Lady Cured of Rheumatism.
Baltimore, Md., May 7, 1880.
My health was much shattered by Rheumatism when I commenced taking Brown's Iron Bitters, and my suffering had grown enough to attend to my daily household duties.
I am now using the third bottle, and I am regaining strength daily, and I certainly recommend it to all.
I can say too much in praise of it. MRS. MARY E. LINDMAN.

Kidney Disease Cured.
Christianburg, Va., 1881.
Suffering from kidney disease,
from which I could get no relief, I tried Brown's Iron Bitters, which cured me completely. A child of mine, recovering from scarlet fever, had no appetite and did not seem to be able to eat at all. I gave him Iron Bitters with the happiest results.
J. KYLE MONTAGUE.
Heart Disease.
Vine St., Harrisburg, Pa.
Dec. 2, 1881.
After trying different physicians and many remedies for palpitation of the heart without receiving any benefit, I was advised to try Brown's Iron Bitters. I have used two bottles and so much relief.
Mrs. JESSIE HINES.
For the peculiar troubles to which ladies are subject, BROWN'S IRON
